Oriel College was founded by King Edward II. at the suggestion of Adam de Brom, the charter bearing date 12th April, 1326, and the college being incorporated in 1603 by Letters Patent of James I. The buildings include a beautiful old hall (1637) with the finest oak roof in Oxford. Among other famous members of this foundation are Sir Walter Raleigh, Prynne, Bishop Butler, Bishop Wilberforce, Cardinal Newman, and Cecil Rhodes, the college benefiting greatly under the will of the last named.
